If you thought engagement rings were the only type of wedding jewelry to feature diamonds, think again. A wedding band is a symbol of the devotion a couple has for each other, and there's certainly no greater way to showcase your love than, you guessed it, by wearing diamonds!

Whether a man chooses to sport a simple, small diamond or go all out with a piece that has stones all around it in an eternity style, the presence of a diamond significantly increases the physical beauty of a ring. What's more, it can add to the groom's personal enjoyment and the band's overall value.

In general, grooms deserve some pizzazz on their wedding day, which is why many jewelers are now creating diamond men's wedding bands for that spark of elegance and beauty. And if you're personally looking for your own special piece, consider these 23 options that are sure to bring something extra to the altar.
